LOUISVILLE AND THE UNION LINE.—The Louis ville Journal has the following article in relation to the approaching "Union Line" of steamers beween this city and Louisville. With the section al animosities heretofore existing between Cincinnati and Louisville, we have nothing to do. Risenough for us to know that the gradual but sure progress of the great Railroad enterprises o the West, has forced that recognition of the importance of both Wheeling and Louisville which less selfish course on the part of their rivals, and superiors in wealth and power, would long since have gratuitously conceded.

We regard the voluntary abandonment of the Pittsburgh opposition line of boats to Louisville, s but one of the indications that our neighbor upstream have at last concluded that it is best to allow us all the reasonable opportunities extended to honorable competitors in a fair race.

As with nations, so with communities; the rights and immunities of the injured party have been vindicated, there is a substantial basis for cordial and amicable relations. Such, we trust, is now our position in regard to our neighbors.

THE TRADE OF LOUISVILLE. -- It cannot have escaped the attention of the superficial observer even, that the completion of the Baltimore an Ohio railroad to Wheeling, and the establishment in connection with it of a daily line of first class steam packets between Wheeling and Louisville, must at once give an impetus to the trade of Louisville that will soon place her on an equal footing with the first commercial emporium in the West. PAYSON'S Indelible Ink, with and without preparation, for sale by J. B. VOWELL, 24 Union st. That this new channel of communication will meet with determined opposition from sources whose interests will be affected by it, admits of n doubt. Butthat it must never theless succeed and receive the warmest co-operation of our citizens. is s fixed fact.

Louisville has for years been compelled to suc cumb to the impositions of Cincinnati. Th course of the latter has been to throw all possible obstacles in the way of Louisville. It is well 50 BBS, Flour-Extru-part white wheat. course of the latter has been to throw all possible known that a daily line of packets has been and is known that a daily line of packets has been and is still in existence between Pittsburgh and Cincin-This line has been of incalculable benefit. nati. This line has been of incalculable benefit to Cincinnati, while it has steadily tended to in jure Louisville. To establish this, we have onl to cite the difference in the charges of freight between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and Pittsburgh and Louisville. It is well known that shipment from Pittsburgh can generally be made from 25 30 per cent. lower to Cincinnati than to Louis ville, and vice versa, shipments from Cincinnati t Pittsburgh in the same ratio. This has not been brought about mainly by the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet line, but it has been aided ver considerably by making it an inducement to boats independent of this line, on their arrival at Cin cinnati, to reship their cargoes on other boats fo the sake of preventing direct communication be tween Pittsburgh and Louisville.

The Wheeling line, supported by the Baltimor and Ohio Railroad Company, can easily withstand CANARY and Hemp Seed received this day by any opposition that may be brought to act against it. The company is fully aware of the importance of this line. It is its main artery for seen ring both the travel and the transportation of the products of the West and South. It may be argued that many rival lines connecting the Wes with East are now in progress, but we believe none of them will be able to compete with th Baltimere and Ohio railroad and the Wheeling and Louisville packet line. It is by far the mos pleasant and convenient route to the traveler to reach the Atlantic seaports, and the cheapest for the transportation of merchandize. To the city of Baltimore it is of vital importance. It will open the first direct avenue to her, not only for receiv ing the produce of the West and Southwest, but also direct the attention of the merchant to obtain his supplies there, instead of resorting to he neighboring cities. It will open to her a direct trade between this State, Tennessee and North Al abama, both by river and railroads which are now in progress. The Louisville and Nashville railroad will penetrate the most extensive tobacco region in Kentucky and Tennessee, and there will finally Orleans from this.

To Louisville, this communication is no less in portance than to Baltimore. We have inserted in another column the circuler of Messrs. Webb Rowland & Co., which shows the advantages this city has for the purchase and shipments of cotton. tobacco and piovisions.

Baltimore and Louisville, as well as St. Louis Memphis and Nashville are already closely allied together, geopraphically as well as otherwise, and the new link will have a tendency to perpetuate this alliance.

We might enumerate many more reasons show the advantages which are so evident to every open to our city, but they are so evident to every reflecting mind that we do not cite them. We can assure our friends beyond the Alleghenies that assure our friends beyond the Alleghenies that assure our friends beyond the Alleghenies that 180 PAIR of misses goat Roots, 180 " " grand " 210 " " calf " 180 " " kip " " kip " Just received, TODD & DEVOL.

SINKING OF THE DAN CONVERS. -- We learn from a private telegraphic dispatch, that the steamer Dan Convers, on her regular trip from Pittsburgh to Zanesville, on Thursday evening at the foot of Bruno's Island, ran against a sunken coak boat and sank in about six feet of water. She was heavily laden and had a large number of passen gers. Persons who passed her yesterday state that her bow was on the beach, and the water some two feet over the lower deck of her stern.

The Dan Convers has been running but a few months, and is owned by some of the most enterprising citizens of Zanesville. We do not under stand that the boat has sustained very serious dam age, though much of the freight must be injured.

Horse Swindlen .- A man named Shafer hired a horse from J. M. Bulger's livery stable on Tuesday, for, as he said, a few hour's ride. He mad his ride, apparently, much longer than he had bargained for, and search being instituted, it was foun he had sold him to Robt. Dronsfield, of North Wheeling, for two silver watches. The horse was of course, recovered, but Shafer is still at large.

The Only True Portrait of Washington Just Published, T. B. Welch's Magnificent Engraved (by permission) from Stuart's only original portrait, in the Atheneum, Hoston
THIS superb picture, englaved under the superintendance of Thomas Sully, Eq., the eminent and highly gilted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterized as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington, George Washington Park Custis, who says, "it is a faithful representation or the celebrated original," and to Chief Justice Taney of the Supreme Court of the United Staies, who says, "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike every one who sees it; and it is no less happy in its likeness to the Father of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be one succlikience, representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And says Senator Cass, "It is a It's like representation of the great original." President Fillmore says, "the work appears to me to have been admirably executed and eminently worthy of the partonage of the public." Says Marchant, the eminent portrait painter, and the pupil of Stuart, "your print, to my mind is more remarkable than any other I have seen for presenting the tehole individuality of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of air and manner, which all who eyer saw him considered e-marked characterisatic of the illustrious man it commemorates."

3.7 Feor the great merits of this picture we should refer Portrait of Washington! manner, which all who ever saw him considered a distribution of the litustrious man it commemorates."

For the great merits of this picture we should refevery lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seat the office of this paper, and to the letters of the followin Artists, Statesmen, Jurists and Scholars accompanying it.
